

Dear Valued Partners,

The global NAND and DRAM markets are currently experiencing constrained supply and extended lead times due to heightened demand and ongoing technology transitions across the industry. In addition, the memory market remains highly volatile, and pricing fluctuations are expected as suppliers adjust to shifting capacity and demand dynamics.

At DigiStor, we are actively managing these conditions by closely coordinating with our suppliers and adjusting production schedules as needed. Despite these efforts, some SSD products may experience longer lead times than normal.

We want to express our sincere appreciation for your continued business and partnership. Your collaboration, trust, and early visibility into upcoming demand allow us to minimize disruption and maintain as much pricing stability as possible. Your support strengthens our ability to navigate these market challenges effectively and continue delivering secure, mission-ready solutions.

Thank you for your ongoing confidence in DigiStor. We remain committed to transparency, communication, and providing the highest level of service.

Sincerely,

Dave Withers
